how to celebrate

Random Acts of Poetry Day is about painting poetry in the public square, either literally or figuratively. This little book will give you ten ideas for how to do that.

Feel like sharing your act pics? Use the hashtag #raopoetryday.

An abstract, colorful background with swirling patterns of blue, green, yellow, and red. A large, bold white number '3' is centered in the upper half of the image.

3

Leave a poem under the wiper
on a car windshield

The background is a vibrant, abstract collage of colors including blue, green, red, yellow, and purple. On the right side, there is a stylized, high-contrast eye with a black iris and a white pupil, looking towards the left. The overall texture is grainy and artistic.

4

Wear a poem

The background is a vibrant, abstract collage of colors including blue, yellow, red, green, and purple. On the right side, there is a stylized, colorful face with a wide, toothy grin. The number 5 is centered in the upper half of the image.

5

Write a poem on a whiteboard

6

Tape a poem
to a bathroom mirror

An abstract, colorful background with a chalkboard-like texture. It features broad, sweeping strokes of various colors including green, yellow, red, blue, and pink. In the lower-left corner, there are some faint, hand-drawn geometric shapes in green and pink. The overall effect is vibrant and artistic.
